Natural Wonders Inspire Creativity Annie Helmericks-Louder

Many of us may have envisioned trekking through the jungles or other far off exotic places as a children after reading the stories and picture books that allow us to travel the world in our minds. Annie Helmericks-Louder's life has been full of adventures that many of us only read about but adventures to the Helmericks was the norm. Her parents are the Alaskan explorers and authors, Harmon and Connie Helmericks. The ladies of the family, Connie, her mother, her sister Jean Aspen and remote areas in Arizona, Alaska, Canada and Australia. Connie loved the natural surroundings of any location that included lush flora and fauna as she taught the girls about her own desires to explore nature. Jean and Annie continue to be motivated by the many family trips to apply the ideas drawn from those adventure. Their mother was a role model for demonstrating how to turn dreams into realities.

Annie has been an artist all of her life and enjoys painting, drawing and working with textiles. As a autobiographical storyteller, her work is based on things that happen in her life and not surprisingly--these works mostly feature nature and environmental themes. Annie has been lucky to have lead many diverse lives: Arizona rancher and horsewoman, business owner, teacher, and mother of 4 children--one daughter, three sons and most recently--grandmother of baby Kody. She shares her life with the love of her life, artist, John Louder. They both teach art at the University of Central Missouri and make their home on 10 wooded acres near Warrensburg. Now empty nesters, they travel often and enjoy exploring and making art together in the American southwest. You're in for a real adventure with Annie!

Step into Literature: Block by Block Judy Wampler

For our program this month, we welcome Judy Wampler from Carthage, Missouri. Judy is a retired teacher who now helps in her daughter's quilt shop. She presents programs on Laura Ingalls Wilder: From Wisconsin to Missouri, including stories of Laura's pioneer family and quilts, Underground Railroad: Fact or Fiction and Seeing Red and Loving It.

Judy will be sharing with us a Step into Literature: Block by Block. This program includes a showing of over 20 quilts along with a discussion of corresponding children's picture books (those published from 1957 through 2002). We will hear about the stories which inspired her quilts. You may remember a favorite story that you'd like to 'illustrate' with a quilt design of your own. Judy will entertain and inspire each of us.

This program may stimulate you to remember some books you may have shared with your own children and/or grandchildren. While I love to read adult fiction and nonfiction, I have especially loved reading children's picture books poring over the illustrators' artwork and re-reading the stories with children. I'm excited and looking forward to seeing aspects of the stories Judy has translated into quilts. See you there!

The Day Chapter Board Meeting will be on November 15th at 3:00 p.m. in Conference A of DBR Library. We will be finalizing plans for our December Holiday luncheon meeting.

Corrine

Judy Wampler will be bringing along a few precut kits. The cost range from $30.00 to 35.00

Do you have a Sam's card? The day chapter hospitality committee could use your help. We would like to purchase individual servings of half-and-half, known as 'Mini-Moos'. We are told they are sold at Sam's. If you could purchase them for BTQG we will reimburse you. If you can help please call Margaret Heller at 446-1942. Thank you.

As I write this, I have just driven from Columbia to Central Arkansas. The trees were glorious, even though not yet at their most colorful. The reds, golds, warm browns, and even a little aubergine helped me float all the way here. Even weeds and wildflowers added their part. Have you ever noticed poison sumac and goldenrod growing together in the fall? Wow!

I am one of those people easily affected by color. Beautiful colors can make practically euphoric or dull, unhappy colors drag me down. Some combinations of colors just make me want to dance and sing. (And since I can neither dance a step nor carry a tune, that is marvelous.)

Sometimes our lives can be sad or just plain awful. Sometimes things are just dreary or grim. What we need is a lot more color in our world. Come on, friends; let's do our part to provide it. Make quilts and spread them around!

Joplin Tornado Relief

We have been in touch with the president of the Town and Country Quilt Guild in Joplin. They are very grateful for our support but feel that instead of contributing to the guild our contribution would be better used by another agency. So working through the guild the funds collected by BTQG will go to Lafayette House, a women's shelter with a long history in Joplin. Due to the aftermath of the tornado Lafayette House is serving many more women. The Joplin guild has been the beneficiary of many donations including cash, fabrics and quilts. They are working hard to see that all donations are dispersed diligently and to worthy causes. The president did tell us that she is glad that our group waited until now to assess the needs and respond. The response has been overwhelming and things are just settling down. They now have to organize the uses and dispersion of all the contributions. The church where they meet is allowing them to store all the fabric, etc. and this month at their regular meeting they will be giving away 250 quilts.

Thank you to all in our guild who responded and contributed.

Special Interest Groups

The sign up sheets for interest groups have resulted in new groups.

A new ROW BY ROW group will form when there enough people . If you are interested in that group please contact Jackie Berry for more information. They have not scheduled a meeting.

SMALL or MINIATURE quilts will have their first meeting on Thursday, Nov. 3, 2p.m at the Daniel Boone Regional Library. The meeting schedule for this group will now appear regularly in the calendar.

A SKILLS Building group will meet to explore options November 17, 10 a.m. at Bettina Havig's home, 1108 Sunset Lane. At the November evening chapter meeting there will be a cookies and punch type reception to visit with the speaker and with friends. If you would like to bring a plate to share, it would be very much appreciated. Please bring any serving pieces needed for your treat.

As a reminder....when the guild entered into a contract with Fairview Methodist Church to provide a meeting place arrangements were decided for each group. Our guild has begun to infringe upon some of the agreements. Our responsibilities for use of the kitchen include use of the sink and refrigerator. We are not to use any power sources or their utensils or supplies. For the Christmas meeting we will be paying the additional fee for complete use of the kitchen,

Day Chapter's Friendship Block — Mona Stevenson

Though I was born and raised in Columbia, I moved to NE Ohio after marriage, where I had a career in librarianship. We lived there for 32 years, before retiring and returning to Missouri to be near our families. Janice Haralson invited me to join the guild when we met on a tour while I still lived in Ohio. She and Suzanne Henage reminded me of that after I moved back. After my mother's estate was settled, I finally had the time for quilt-related activities.

My grandma, cousins and aunt had quilted, but my mother had not. About the time of the Bicentennial, a quilt shop opened nearby, so I took an introductory class. I still have the sampler I made in that first class, as well as some of my grandma's quilts. With work and church activities, I seldom found time to quilt much, though I made a number of baby quilts for friends. Our minister wanted new paraments for the sanctuary and gathered a group of craftswomen for that purpose. I designed and constructed 2 sets of quilted pulpit hangings with matching stoles for the ministers. Thus began my liturgical arts career. Since that time I've made about a dozen stoles, in addition to a variety of pulpit hangings and banners for churches here and in Ohio. In the 80's a neighbor wrote an article for a craft magazine about my liturgical projects. My only other claim to fame is having my studio in our new home shown in Studios Magazine last year.

My other hobbies are reading, needlework and puzzles.

I chose the Square in a Square block because it will be good for a scrappy look, is adaptable to a variety of settings and is easy to construct. My initial plan calls for at least 60 blocks. I know everyone has as many holiday projects as I do, so I wanted something fast. This will be the largest quilt I've attempted, so far. I appreciate your help with it.

Day Chapter Christmas Luncheon and Zip-Lock Auction
Monday December 5th

It's time to start thinking about our holiday luncheon and auction. Funds raised from the auctions (live and silent) will help defray the extra cost the day chapter incurs for our "sit and sew" time the morning of our chapter meetings. Please be thinking about items you can donate towards the auctions. Suggestions: bake goods (pies, cookies, bread, etc.), needlework, coordinated fat quarters, home canned goods, quilted items, hand crafts, jewelry, ser-vice items like sewing binding on a quilt, machine or hand quilting an item, making continuous binding etc. Place your item(s) in zip-lock bags-label with one side with the contents and leave opposite for viewing or submit your donation in whatever form your creativity leads you. It will be Christmas Auction Mania!
